Peter -
 so the time has come. all the wishing, praying & dreaming that a separation wouldn't come between us was to no avail. And now I am supposed to write something to you, describing my feelings or some such thing, not being very eloquent, then what I feel for is partly & impossible to write. I feel for you in common internally, it's a shame that we don't discover each other sooner. You have done so very much given me such support in all I do. When I lose faith, you recognize it and look me up until I again can try to love man to my fullest. for me to call you friend is an honor, yet I feel right in talking that, and perhaps to an even deeper level. There are some people one never stops knowing and never forgets, and I know you will, do your best not only in friends, will remember my close ones all the better. It's hard for me to accept your leaving, but I hope that you, as academics, but in loving other people, please don't try to be self-sufficient, for in doing that you are depriving many people of your friendship, which is to be always treasured. It's not hard for me to say I love you, Peter, but that doesn't express my feelings to the fullest. They go to an even deeper level, one of unity but individuality, of total acceptance of who the other person is and loving him as much as possible for it. If you ever need a friend to talk to for help or just for good times, I'll be always in touch.
 I guess I'm sad, but I really shouldn't be. When I see you leaving through the stained glass I know I will feel happy, happy because I have a bond with one of the most incredibly good people living, and that I know he feels for me in the same way. But it's hard, you know, to watch a part of yourself leave. Just think though, when we see each other again, I shall always try to be there to support, whether by my big smile or by giving you some-one to lean on.

It's hard to say good-bye, but the best part is, we don't have to.
So, I'll say hello to you in the future. Take care, and may God, or whatever exists, go with you, and bring you life and love.

I'll love you always.

It has been a real privilege to get to know you and work with you this year. As I said on the A.C. overnight, you have gotten the most out of work. I hope you can continue your drive as long as you keep open to the personal and human.
I will miss you next year — of course for all the work and help you have been — but especially as someone who would always be honest with me. You will leave a whole in me. Good Luck at Harvard and will see you back on the west coast in five years —
As ever.

You may give them your love but not your thoughts,
For they have their own thoughts.
You may house their bodies but not their souls,
For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.
You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you.
For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday.

To sum up the whole, we should say that the aim of the Platonic philosophy was to exalt man into a god. The aim of the Baconian philosophy was to provide man with what he requires while he continues as a man. The aim of the Platonic philosophy was to raise us above vulgar wants. The former aim was noble; but the latter was attainable. Plato drew a good bow; but, like Acestes in Virgil, he aimed at the stars; and therefore, though there was no want of strength or skill, the shot was thrown away. His arrow was indeed followed by a track of dazzling radiance, but it struck nothing. . . .

As he came back to the hearth, limping slightly but with a brisk step, Stephen saw the silent soul of a Jesuit looking out at him from pale loveless eyes. Like Ignatius he was lame but in his eyes burned no spark of Ignatius's enthusiasm. Even the legendary craft of the company, a craft subtler and more secret than its fabled books of secret subtle wisdom, had not fired his soul with the energy of apostleship. It seemed as if the shifts and lore and cunning of the world, as bidden to do, for the greater glory of God, without job in their handling or hatred of that in them which was evil but turning them, with a firm gesture of obedience, back upon their lives: and for all this silent service it seemed as if he loved not all the master and little, if at all, the ends he served.

 Unstoppered, lurked her strange synthetic perfumes, Unguent, powered, or liquid—troubled, confused
 And drowned the sense in odours, stirred by the air That freshened from the window, these ascended In fattening the prolonged candle-flames, Flung their smoke into the laquearia, Stirring the pattern on the coffered ceiling.
 Huge sea-wood fed with copper Burned green and orange, framed by the coloured stone, In which sad light a carved dolphin swam.
 Above the antique mantel was displayed As though a window gave upon the sylvan scene
 The change of Philomel, by the barbarous king So rudely forced; yet there the nightingale Filled all the desert with inviolable voice
 And still she cried, and still the world pursues,

IN FUTUR YEARS THIS PAGE WONT BE VERY GOOD BECAUSE THE THING MOST ON MY MIND IS WHAT HAS BEEN HAPPENING LATELY. I THINK THAT YOU REALIZE MOST WHAT KIND OF PERSON I AM REALLY BENEATH IT ALL. ALOT HAS COME UP LATELY WITH MY FAMILY AND MYSELF SO I THINK THAT THAT IS WHAT THE BIGGEST PROBLEM IS. I CANT REALLY FIGURE MYSELF OUT BUT

I THINK (I HOPE) YOU REALIZE WHATS BEEN GOING ON WITH ME. ILL WORK IT OUT AT ANY RATE ANYWAY SO C'EST LA VIE! THIS YEAR HAS REALLY GONE FAST EXCEPT THESE LAST FEW WEEKS AND I'M NOT TO SURE I REALIZE THAT NO BODY IS GOING TO BE AROUND NEXT YEAR AND WE ARE GOING TO BE THE BIG BAD SENIORS, GOD! SOMETIMES I HATE CHANGE! I HAVE REALLY GAINED ALOT OF GOODNESS AND LOVE FOR NOT ONLY PEOPLE BUT THINGS THROUGH YOU BUT THEN YOU HAVE GOTTEN ALOT FROM US (MR. DOES NEED MORE PEOPLE LIKE (GRIT, BITE, UG!) PETER ANTON, BECAUSE YOU ALWAYS SEEMED TO BE THERE WHEN SOMEONE JUST NEEDED TO TALK TO SOMEONE ELSE, AND ILL ADMITT THAT YOU DID HELP THAT SOMEONE OUT MOST OF THE TIME. WELL ILL BE SEEING YOU LOVE  John

P.S. EVEN THOUGH OUR ENVIRONMENT CHANGES PROMISE ME THAT YOU WONT, PEACE AND ALL THE HAPPYNESS IN THE WORLD TO YOU

IN YEARS TO COME I JUST WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT THIS IS ME. (YOUR SO BECAUSE YOU KNOW)

FOREVER BECAUSE I'VE GOTTEN SO MUCH OUT OF IT, NOT ONLY STUDY WISE BUT FRIENDSHIP WISE. EVEN THOUGH IT DOES CHANGE (lets) DONT LET IT STOP US HERE BECAUSE I WONT MIND SEEING YOU AGAIN AFTER THIS SUMMER OF COURSE. I HATE TO SAY STUFF LIKE THIS ESPECIALLY TO YOU BUT HERE GOES ANYWAY. YOU HAVE SHOWN ME SIDES OF MYSELF THAT NO ONE LIKES TO SEE BUT THAT WAS GOOD BECAUSE IT DOES AND DID HELP ME (PAIN! PAIN!) AND I THANK YOU FOR IT. THE WORLD (GO TO THE STARS)

Dear Peter,
 Well it has been the end of four hard frustrating years at Webb. I must admit that it has been a weird year filled with happiness, sadness, and depression at times. Since I will be graduating next after 5 years, I would like to thank you for coming into the life of Webb. I really feel a lot better about Webb now and you have helped me change my attitude about this place. Now that I look back to my eighth

DIX, TSENG, GOVEA, LIBAW, KRON, DONIN

Grade, Freshman + Sophomore year, I think I was a screwup, but I feel that I have done a lot of growing up. I am really sorry I didn't get involved in the school at the beginning when I should have. But I really feel a lot more content about Webb, I got into S.O.S, Snow, Blue + Gold,

'What is that noise?'

The wind under the door.

'What is that noise now? What is the wind doing?'

Nothing again nothing.

I shall rush out as I am, and walk the street

'With my hair down, so. What shall we do tomorrow?'

'What shall we ever do?'

Thank you for your friendship and I was over these past four years both as a friend and an H.C. Do have a great summer. I hope we can get together again soon. Take care. Your friend, Robert. P.S. I thanks for helping me grow up at Harvard and making me think better about Webb. I was on my first interscholastic team. Congregation being an H.C., Student Body Pres. You have given Webb a lot. PETER ACHILLES ANTON

Dear Peter,
What can I say after all the years we've been together - I'd like to write something really sentimental that you would remember forever but my mind is blank. Peter, even if Harvard takes up 23 hours of your day, use that last hour to write your oldest girlfriend - don't forget get to keep in touch this summer!
Really, we only live 10 miles apart!
Love always,
Peter

Peter,

I shed a tear Sunday Satchel Paige at graduation, not because I'm leaving Webb but because I'll be leaving you, my brother.
As said so many times before - What can I say.
Don't forget your friends Peter (as I am sure you will not) but most of all don't forget me - If it wasn't for you my friend my life at Webb could have been cut short (I think you know what I mean) - I love you Peter,

Peter

"What a long strange trip it's been!"

Greatful Dead

Peter,
Boy did you ever help me out this year. (More than just the obvious one that fateful night) Over four years, with such worldly topics as eyes, bears, drunk hate, love, and Webb, I have really gotten to know a fantastically special person. All kidding aside, I am really going to miss you next year. But if while I am living here, if I don't see you when you come home, I swear to God that everybody at Harvard will find out about Peeeeeeter and S.P.

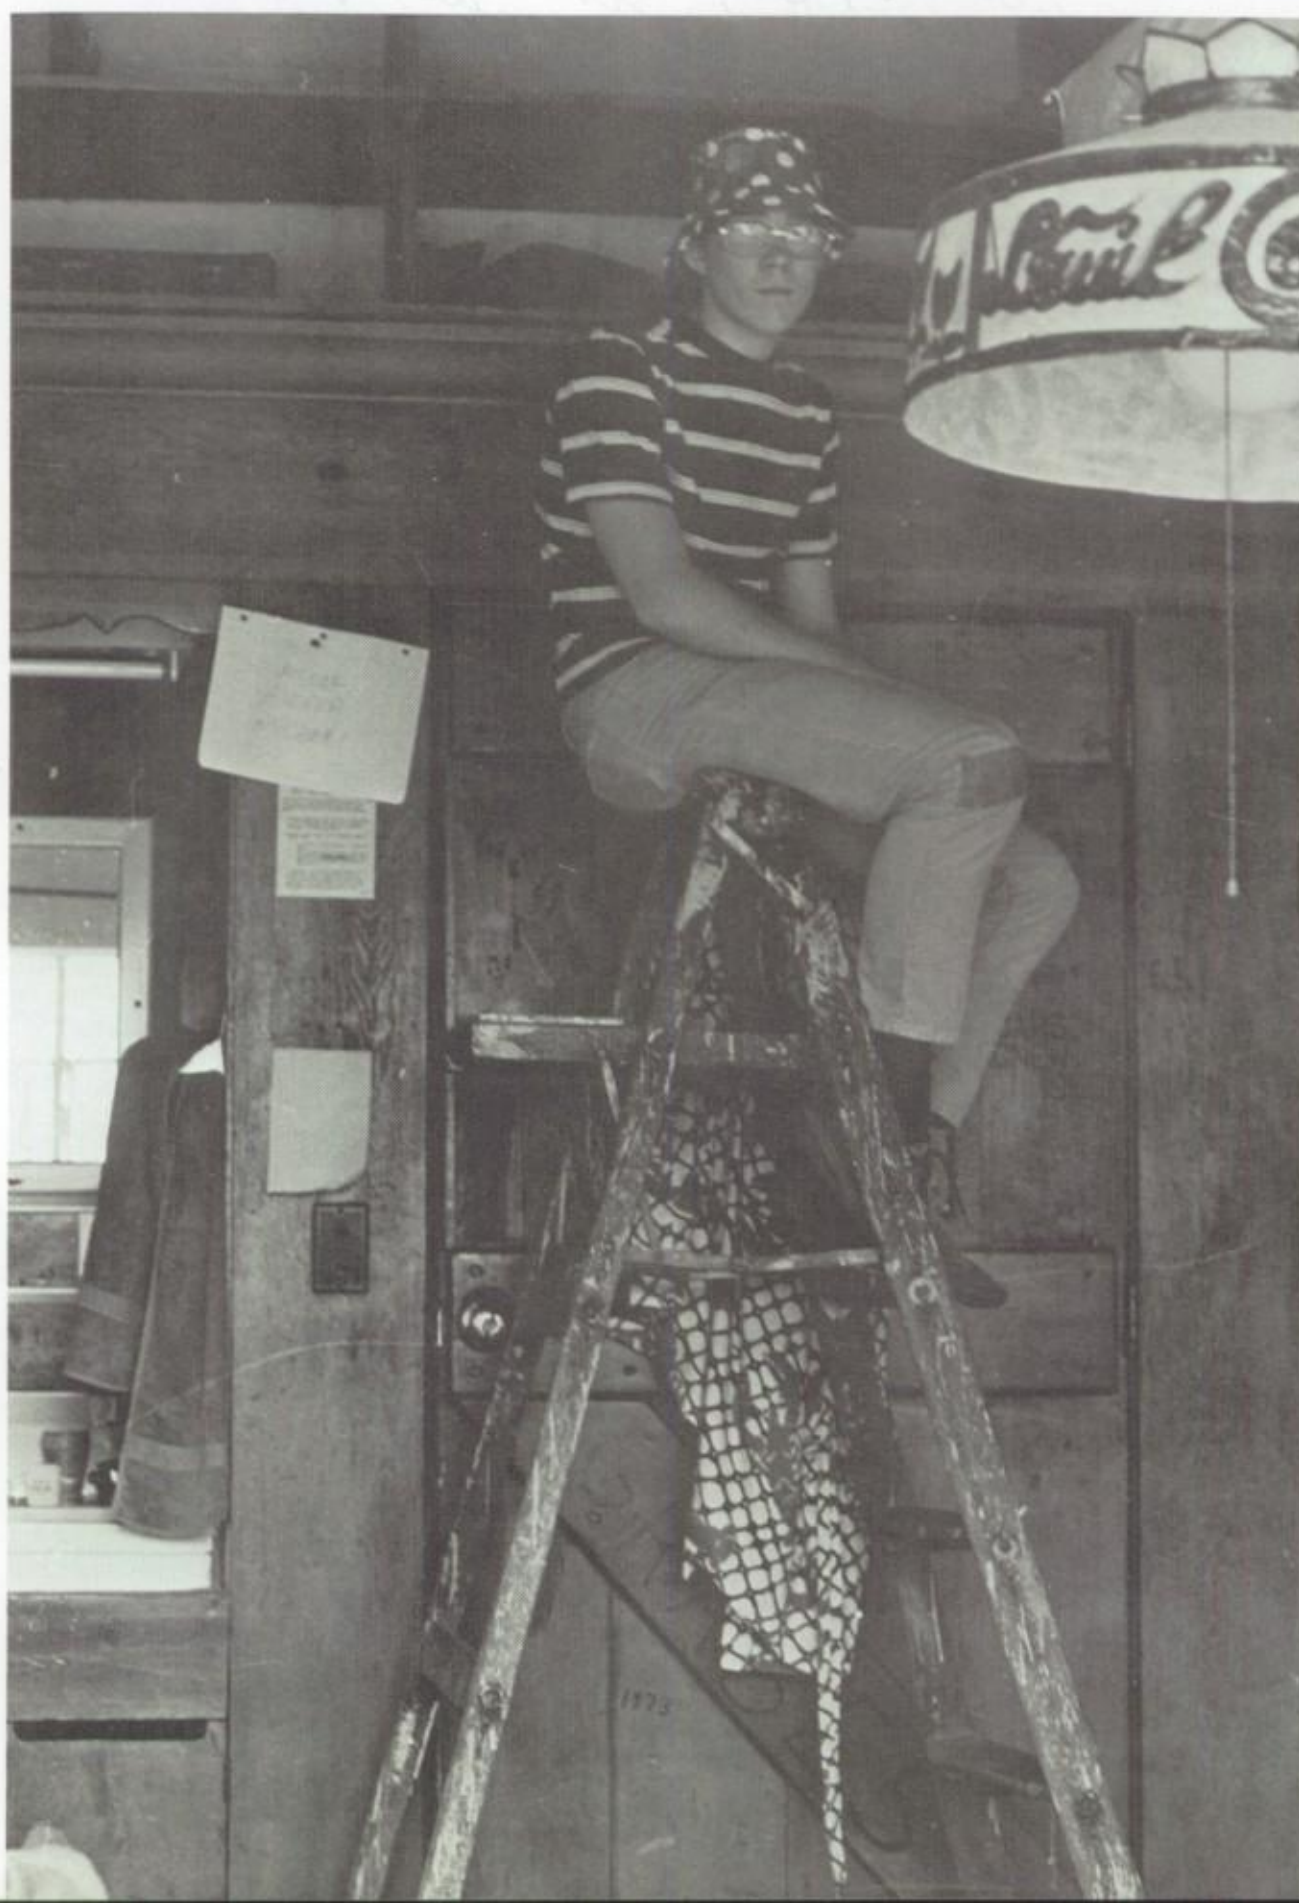

Your good friend always,

Jeff

We must be able to dish it out and to take it too.

P.S. I kept it short because right now I am trying to realize what is going to happen on Sunday.

JEFF GRAYBILL

Well Peter, so you are going to Harvard.
It's really not a bad school, of course Yale is far superior, but I assure you that Harvard is a good second rate school.
Anyway, I hope you can manage to get along alright. I mean you can't be S.P. anymore, or can you?
All kidding aside, it's been fun, and I hope that I can see you sometime next year (we will have to keep in touch)

To Special PEEEEEEEEEEEEEEter - How can I even do a halfway decent job of summing it all up? We spoke once about what it will be like to meet again in 20 years when we'll probably all be married and our entire future pretty much set. I hope yours will be happy. Being prosperous will be easy for you I think, but in these changing times happiness is the most important I hope we can keep in touch and at least see each other when we go skiing. I'll never forget those past years. When I look at our classmates now I remember them as they first were and wonder how each will eventually become. I'll be very interested to see. We've had a lot of fun as well as our shares of ill. It's good that you were able to get as much out of Webb as you did, I wish, now, that I had tried harder here. In a couple of things I think I may have gone in the wrong direction but I think and hope that I, you - all of us have been able to develop the capability to learn from our mistakes. Good luck at Harvard. I hope you can get as much out of there. And of course good luck with your skiing. I'll be looking forward to seeing you at the Olympics. That's about it. Jim (strange)

Peter,

We've been through a lot together, and I've enjoyed every minute of it. I must say that I am quite proud of all the accomplishments that you have brought to Webb. I really admire you for helping the school.

Good Day my friend,

it's early, about 6:45 on a drizzly Tuesday morning. I've been spending some quiet moments in front on my window-open-feeling the cool air brushing my body . . . thought I'd share it with you. This has been a long pleasant day-or rather night . . . I haven't been to sleep. A little Elton John, Laura Nyro, and Joni Mitchell are playing-so our moment is complete. My room is filled with the sounds of morning-little birds chirping, cars rushing, music and waking. I'm sitting in the corner, now beside my tapestry, under my net and beside my table which keeps playing color games . . . there's a red candle burning-on it and in this corner its some what dark. The candle flickers-casting-spells on my walls and paintings, and illuminates a (deoupage) of Christ. It's all very comforting, and beautiful. Today is something wonderful-wouldn't you say?

The Elves sat on the grass and spoke together in soft voices; they seemed to take no further notice of the hobbits. Frodo and his companions wrapped themselves in cloaks and blankets, and drowsiness stole over them. The night grew on, and the lights in the valley went out. Pippin fell asleep, pillowed on a green hillock.

Away high in the East swung Remmirath, the Netted Stars, and slowly above the mists red Borgil rose, glowing like a jewel of fire. Then by some shift of airs all the mist was drawn away like a veil, and there leaned up, as he climbed over the rim of the world, the Swordsman of the Sky, Menelvagor with his shing belt. The Elves all burst into song. Suddenly under the trees a fire sprang up with a red light.

'Come!' the Elves called to the hobbits. 'Come! Now is the time for speech and merriment!'

You never really leave a place you love. Part of it you take with you, leaving a part of you behind.

I'm mellow now. I wish you could hear these words and serve the gratitude and affection in the lines. No, tell me it's not over. For so long I've been taking things for granted and not moving in the lines. the security they gave me is gone. Hey, hey, hey, Peter, you were too much. Hey, you know something funny, sad, and ironic? For the Dilated Award, I only voted for one person — only you, I mean — in my mind, who else? Acheal spirit? you overflew with the stuff. Friendship? — you are sincere, respectful, dependable, unphoney, hey, I think you got great integrity. What are you gonna do now? You'll be something great.

We've been going in different circles this year. You with the H.C.'s (last year when I didn't get elected I was so sad I got sick, I really felt being an H.C. would give me a chance to do something. I would really love to have been able to work with you, it would really have been a great experience with your ideas and mine, and you — oh boy!)

I did a lot of worthless stuff this year, I screwed myself too 'cause

I didn't do anything that I was proud of (except singing)

I mean I really tried to improve the student council but god how depressing it really is when you fight and lose. This isn't like me speaking so much in the negative sense but when I know that that's what happened I don't call it negative I call it ~~loss~~ truth. This year I've had to live with the truth. I'm saying all this because at least you were able to do something, a lot I think. We know ~~the~~ miles between an idea and an action. You made it. So many times I felt so down this year, you know either fed up or just ready to give up. The weird thing is I always found some light around the corner to make my fantasies last longer. You don't think I want how to feel never for me. I want you to know that I'm not a friend ~~to~~ <sup>an</sup> extraordinary time. It's meant a lot, inspiration for one thing. I'll tell you one thing though sometimes ~~that~~ I'd look at you and want to give up I mean I'd see your accomplish-merits and I just didn't want to try any more (hope gone) Don't let it worry you though. Forgive you. I'm really me. I really like to see you again.

 When I do I'll really be happy. I'll love
 P.S. those words you.

To my friends:

"Well," said Ugly, "when am I ever going to see you guys again?"

"Ugly," answered Hawk, "that's a painful subject. I hope it's soon, but I don't know. If you come to Maine, you'll see me. If we attend the same medical meetings we'll meet. From here it sounds great to say we'll all get together soon, but all I know is this: you can call me or the Duke fifty days or fifty years from now and we'll be glad to see you."

Peter,
Well, it's time for us to all run off to college. I hope you've enjoyed this brief stay at Webb as a boarder. Of course it is easier when you're under the "special" umbrella. However, when you get to Harvard there are going to be thousands of people just as special as you, especially in pre-med. As a result chances are nobody is going to be special. So things are bound to be a lot different than they are here at Miao-society Webb, where nothing is accurate of the "Jungle" outside. So I wish you good luck when you get to Harvard, things are going to be a lot different when you get there.

Now back to Webb. It's truly been great knowing you and working with you on Blue and Gold and 4th Estate those long, late nights. We've had an occasional opposition of opinion on various national issues, but there is nothing wrong with that. We've also had various agreements. Someday you will happily married in a successful medical practice surrounded by your materialistic horse and car and T.V. and ski chalet and your own personal hair stylist making $100,000 a year; while I be living a humble, enlightened, truly liberal life in a cabin up in the mountains, making an occasional occasional phone call to New York to check up on my $1,000,000 a year stock return statement. ;chuckle; But that is the two separate paths we must take - some of us are just destined to make a lot of money.

Well, I'll be up in Berkeley-Bazooka and if you're ever around, drop on by. I don't think I will ever forget what has happened here, and you are certainly part of the thing. I will never forget, many years from now when we are old we will laugh and cry. Take it easy and do what you what you truly want to do.

I could not bring these thoughts to any conclusion. A stone had been dropped into the well, the well was my youthful soul. And for a very long time this matter of Cain, the fratricide, and the "mark" formed the point of departure for all my attempts at comprehension, my doubts and my criticism.

All these manifestations, from the unscrupulously invented "rumor" to the inflammatory article, from the boycotting of "enemy" art to the defamation of whole nations, have in their source a failure to think, a mental laziness that is perfectly pardonable in a soldier at the front but ill becomes a thoughtful writer or artist.

Bernie was there in Miami that day. You couldn't keep Bernie away from a Dolphins game with a gun, a whip and a chair. He went with his hair stylist, an Englishman named Bernard, who is related to Bernie only through insanity. They sat in the teeth of the wind and the rain among roughly 5,000 people in a stadium designed to hold half the population of Bolivia. Bernard (the sensible one) finally suggested that if they had to drown, it would be a lot nicer to go down for the third time at midfield instead of the 20-yard line where they normally sat. Stumbling through the elements and thousands of empty seats, they staggered to the 50-yard line, draped a raincoat over their heads and settled down to watch the game. Midway in the first quarter, Bernard felt a hand on his shoulder.

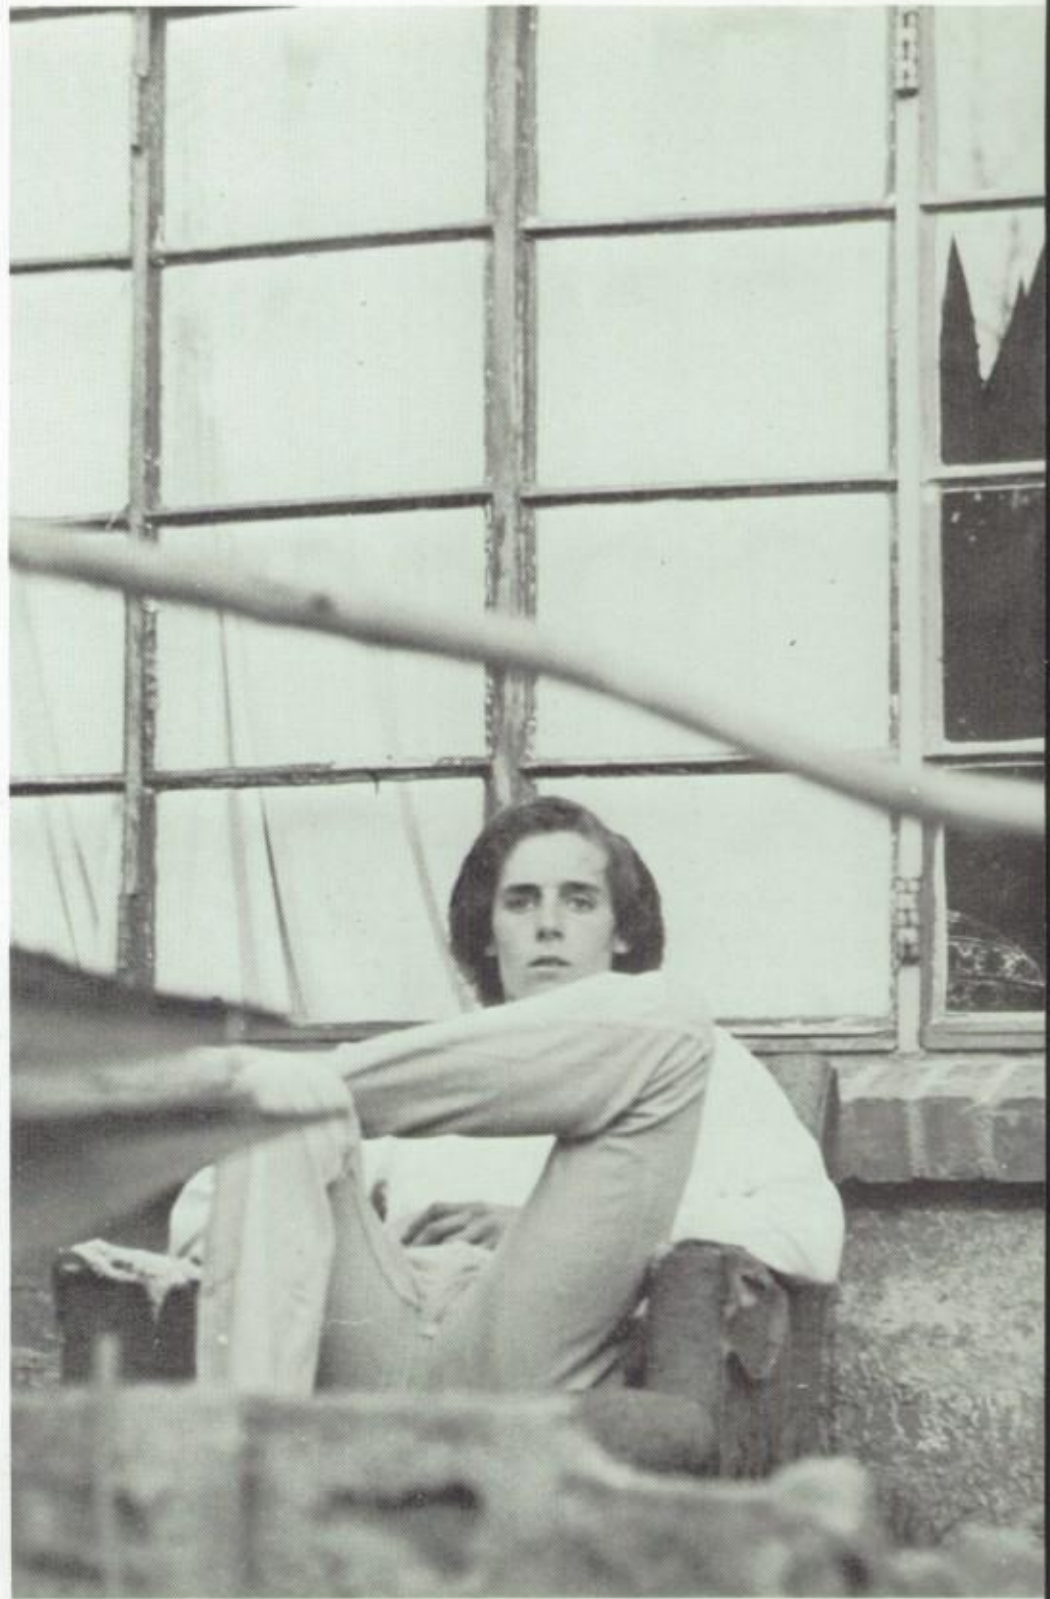

"I'm sorry," mumbled an apparition, dripping water furiously amid the sea of empty seats as he waved a soggy ticket stub, "but you are sitting in my seat."

Pete,
After your mother reads this, she'll probably start crying (I'm so sentimental you understand). Already I've got tears in my eyes. Anywho, what do you ~~wish~~ to some one who doesn't need my pearls of wisdom, who has the world stretched out before him, beckoning him to teach it, he asking to learn; who is ready right now to assume the leadership destined for him; ready to fulfill a role of healing the sick, comforting the wounded, helping the needy. (Don't get the page with yet Mrs. Anton, there's more) What do you write to someone who has taken plenty yet has a smile ready for anyone who reads it, someone who has almost eternal knowledge (whew, pretty heavy) about anything, someone who truly loves. All you can write is, is he's a friend. Pete, be mine and world will be little easier to live in. Keep the Faith and God Bless. Come to Mizzou some time and we'll contemplate our fate in the world.

"To begin with," he said heavily, "you've got to understand that a seagull is an unlimited idea of freedom, an image of the Great Gull, and your whole body, from wingtip to wingtop, is nothing more than your thought itself."

The young gulls looked at him quizzically. Hey, man, they thought, this doesn't sound like a rule for a loop.

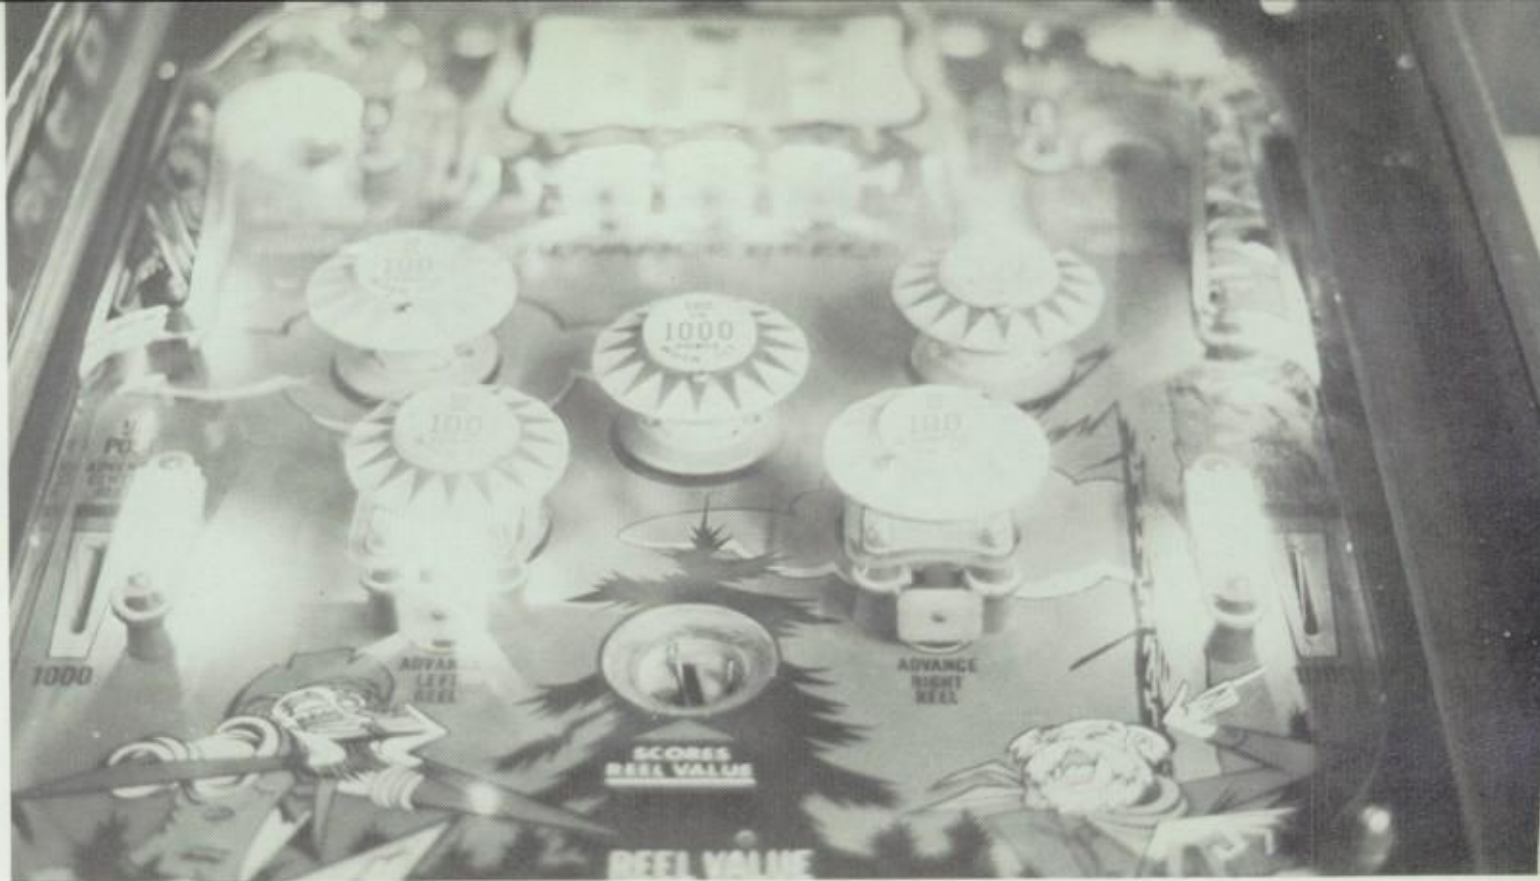

Fletcher signed and started over, "Hm, Ah . . . Very well," he said, and eyes them critically, "Let's begin with Level Flight," And saying that, he understood all at once that his friend had quite honestly been no more divine than Fletcher himself.

No limits, Jonathan? he thought, Well, then, the time's not distant when I'm going to appear out of thin air on your beach, and show you a thing or two about flying!

And though he tried to look properly severe for his students, Fletcher Seagull suddenly saw them all as they really were, just for a moment, and he more than liked, he loved what he saw, No limits, Jonathan? he thought, and he smiled. His race to learn had begun.

Peter,
Even ~~though~~ <sup>though</sup> we are two very different people I will miss all the things we did together.
Enjoy being number one at Harvard because you can do it. Don't disappear back east never to be seen again.
Come back and see me at Davis. Maybe we could go skiing at

We're not talking about the same thing," he said. "For you the world is weird because if you're not bored with it you're at odds with it. For me the world is weird because it is awesome, mysterious, unfathomable. Much interest has been to convince you that you must assume responsibility for being here, in this marvelous world, in this marvelous desert, in this marvelous time. I wanted to convince you that you must learn to make every act count, since you are going to be here for only a short while, in fact, too short for witnessing all the marvels of it.

Pete,

I know everyone always calls you "Special peter" in jest - but it isn't far from how you really are. It is special when someone can be so diligent academically and so caring with his friends. That's really a simplification. There are lots of other intangible or "tacit" ways that you put across - "I am P.A. Anton", and I'll tell you, that's admirable. That's not to say that these past 3 years you haven't had your faults, as everyone does, but you have seen one of the most consistent friends I've had at our stay at the little school-house on the hill. We haven't always been the closest two, but I think we know pretty well what each of us expects and enjoy - and I hope

"When someone is seeking," said Sidhartha, "it happens quite easily that he only sees the thing that he is seeking; that he is unable to find anything, unable to absorb anything, because he is obsessed with his goal. Seeking means: to have a goal; but finding means: to be free, to be receptive, to have no goal. You, O worthy one, are perhaps indeed a seeker, for in striving towards your goal, you do not see many things that are under your nose."

Peter,

How am I supposed to express the friendship I have for you?! All I can say is that I care for you very deeply. You are really an extraordinary human being and you have given so much to so many. My strongest wish for you is that you will take with you the love and caring you have experienced here and will have the courage to share it. The world needs it so badly and you have it to give. I know there are so many things you want to do but, as you are discovering, there is never enough time. I hope that you will continue to have time for these things which are really important to you and will be able to discard those which aren't. With the compassion you have inherited from your father, you should be a fine doctor.

I feel a real loss, because we were just beginning. There is so much more I would like to learn about you. I pray that our friendship will not only be life long but will continue to grow and deepen. I never want to lose contact with the Antons!

With love,

Jennifer

Peter,

I'm sitting here talking to some friends about good things and bad, sad things ~~that~~ trying not to get so depressed. I've got two years left at Webb and alot more of sad remembrances of friends and good times.

It was so nice sometimes with good old Pete being upstairs to go to talk to. You know how much trouble I have trying to express myself, well I'm choking now. We are so different sometimes but I could alway talk to you about it, even when it came down to small little things.

Kurt ad Jennifer and I are sitting here talking about life, and I'm thinking about never seeing you again and Jim and everybody. Please, please ~~and~~ Peter keep in touch with me and I'm going to too.

"Make me laugh once more"

Love Tom

Peter,

It's very hard to say good-bye to someone who I love as a person very much. This last year has been the best year that I will probably ever experience because I learned how to help people. But it took me to the limits of my emotional capacity. I love this school in the same sense you do Peter. I have made it my home. The people are so fantastic and they help to weld my personality together. But this year I am losing a great deal of that LOVE. I will "re-make" new friends next year, but not like the beautiful seniors I met this year. You can't imagine how SPECIAL you are to me. I have learned so many things from you this year in the way you treat different situations. You possess an amount of poise that I have never seen before in my life. You believe in what you are doing and believe it will benefit others. You're right! Your caring for people is incredible. I'm not trying to build up your ego. I just wanted you to know what you meant to me.

You have helped me in innumerable ways Peter. You were always there when I needed you. If I could be half the H.C. that you were I would be happy. I wanted to hug you when I read your letter. Love Richard Kenton in SPIRIT and remember that no matter how

Dearest Peter,
This was one yearbook that I really didn't want to sign.
To me our friendship has gone from simply being expressed in words to something.... well, like understanding a smile, grin, (sometimes a frown), or just a feeling in the air. I think that a small, elite group of us have had a chance which so very few people ever recognize or learn to cherish.... wanting to open yourself completely to another person and having him do the same with you. To recognize, to become acquainted, to like, to grow (often as one), to experience, and.... to truly love. My mind is suddenly back into that "slot machine" action and I just can't sort it out. But then that's us Peter, we don't have to explain or reassure .... only love. Take care, Mike far away you are, I am with you. Be yourself Peter. You really are SPECIAL! Thank - you
Love,
Jack
